FYI...

I submitted your Lifesaving award nomination to North American Rescue and Quikclot for recognitions as well. North American Rescue will be placing your names and heroic actions on their social media page. Quikclot will be reviewing your actions for additional awards. This is a big time shout out....well deserved.

Stay safe and win all fights.

Out!

I see no issue sharing the write-up. Just make sure any items (if any) that should be redacted are

Gentlemen,

I have a question. Now that the Lifesaving Commendation is awarded is it ok to share the results with the public? In particular, can we formally share our officers' actions with North American Rescue and Z-Medica. Both companies periodically publish updates on Officers' lifesaving actions whereas in the performance of their actions said officers utilized any of their manufactured tactical medical supplies. Moreover, each company issues independent awards to officers and/or military personnel.

I think the guys are deserving of what recognition they can get. Thoughts?
